Dixon BE, Staes C, Acharya J, Allen KS, Hartsell J, Cullen T, Lenert L, Rucker DW, Lehmann H. Enhancing the nation's public health information infrastructure: a report from the ACMI symposium. J Am Med Inform Assoc. 2023 Apr 19;30(5):1000-1005. doi: 10.1093/jamia/ocad033. PMID: 36917089; PMCID: PMC10114045.

Excerpt:

First, the nation must perceive the health data infrastructure to be a matter of national security. The nation must further invest significantly more in its health data infrastructure. Investments should include the education and training of the public health workforce as informaticians in this domain are currently limited.

Acharya JC, Staes C, Allen KS, Hartsell J, Cullen TA, Lenert L, Rucker DW, Lehmann HP, Dixon BE. Strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats for the nation's public health information systems infrastructure: synthesis of discussions from the 2022 ACMI Symposium. J Am Med Inform Assoc. 2023 May 5;30(6):1011–21. doi: 10.1093/jamia/ocad059. Epub ahead of print. PMID: 37146228; PMCID: PMC10198524.

Excerpt:

Three overarching opportunities were especially prominent: (1) addressing the needs for sustainable funding, (2) leveraging existing infrastructure and processes for information exchange and system development that meets public health goals, and (3) preparing the public health workforce to benefit from available resources.

Alpi KM, Del Biondo KM, Rethlefsen ML. Evolving from public health libraries as a place to focus on public health librarian expertise. J Med Libr Assoc. 2024 Apr 1;112(2):95-106. doi: 10.5195/jmla.2024.1804. Epub 2024 May 22. PMID: 39119164; PMCID: PMC11305463.

Excerpt:

Following a national trend for branch libraries, public health information services were centralized into larger health or science libraries. The scope and specialization of librarian expertise continues to be valued with several institutions having librarians dedicated to public health.
